

Network Toys Germany now also in English

The Clearing Center and all technical documentation are now available in English

Cologne, 10.09.2014

The NTG-industry standard reaches beyond geographical borders. In order to enable dealers and suppliers to work not only nationally but also internationally, Network Toys Germany (NTG) is now also available in English. Already in the pre-project phase, before the establishment of the company, a multilingual usage was provided in the development of the EDI standards used. First, the used EDIFACT standard is established internationally for decades. To the other, where appropriate, the data contents can be filled multilingual.

Since it's going-live the help desk is staffed with English-speaking personnel.

Now in addition all relevant surfaces of the WebEDI internet portal have been translated into English. The system recognizes automatically, based on the language used by the internet browser, if the surface is to be displayed in German or English.

The EDI guidelines and the manual are available in the download area of the homepage of NTG in English. Willy Fischel, Managing Director of Network Toys Germany: "All relevant processes, documentation, surfaces and support functions are now fully available in English." All the conditions are created, that dealers and suppliers with headquarters in other European countries can successfully use the NTG industry standard.

NTG Network Toys Germany GmbH

Network Toys Germany GmbH (NTG) has the goal to enable more efficient processes between suppliers and dealers in the toy industry by establishing an open industry standard for master data as well as transaction data. Founders of NTG are: Bundesverband des Spielwaren-Einzelhandels e.V. (BVS), myToys.de GmbH, SPIEL & SPASS GmbH, SPIELE MAX AG, Toys "R" Us GmbH and VEDES AG. The suppliers are involved by the establishment of a "competence team Industry".
